

Companies who use UP E-Learning allows their employee to enjoy the benefits of courses they can take during the time that is most suitable for them. Each individual employee has different sets of skills, and learning abilities and with e-learning they can now choose the right time and right place to attend training classes.

You can choose a course from a wide variety of UP e-learning courses, or allow us to prepare a course programme for your employees. UP e-learning will allow you to provide different courses to different employees at the same time, and also view and manager their course successes.

UP provides Training Certification to those who succesfully completed their courses.

Example; provide Despatch and Safety Certificates.